

Penwith Dementia Action Alliance

Working to become
Dementia Friendly

What does that mean?

A dementia-friendly community is composed of the whole community – shops, public services, faith communities, organisations, businesses, emergency services, transport and community leaders – who are committed to work together and help people with dementia to remain a part of their community and not become apart from it.

This involves learning about dementia and doing very simple and practical things that can make an enormous difference.
